

ORGANIC

Organic Viticulture is a living system, that we develop with the nature as a role model.

Our aim is making premium quality and at the same time elaborating the original features of the wines. As a winemaker we support the natural conditions.

Organic Viticulture means winemaking in consistency with the natural surroundings of the vine. That means diversity in the vineyard, the edge strips and the hedges and habitat for insects, beneficial organisms, small animals and birds. A diverse vegetation gives the ground and its organisms and nourishes the vines. It prevents erosion and keeps the water for the plants. We protect the vines through punctual leaf work and plant protection products: Plant extracts and mineral substances. The requirements of the different grape varieties and the location conditions are coordinated with each other and new sturdy varieties (PIWI).

We promote healthy grounds for healthy vines through consistent waiver of herbicides, chemical-synthetic pesticides, mineral nitrogen fertilizer and any genetic engineering. With biodynamics we deepen the holistic approach and give the soils and the vines further impulses for quality development. With that we lay down the basis for characterful and individual wines.

It needs patience and time to create a good wine.

Already 40 years ago we commenced to work organically in the vineyards. A way that we always develop and means future to us.
